Here on the First Day of the Redpath Chautauqua

OCEANIC CONCERT COMPANY.

The Oceanic Concert Company, appearing at the coming Redpath Chautauqua, is an unusually versatile singing orchestra. Each member of the company is a vocalist, as well as a player of exceptional ability. The remarkable artistry and musicianship of these vivacious young artists has been repeatedly demonstrated before enthusiastic audiences in France, New Zealand, Australia and America.

Fun-Maker Extraordinary
at Chautauqua

Ralph Bingham, one of America's greatest fun-makers, will be a notable attraction at the coming Redpath Chautauqua.

Before the public since he was six years of age and having appeared in over ten thousand performances, his name has become almost a household word, and few entertainers have ever won such an enthusiastic following in city after city.

Ralph Bingham's versatility excites the wonder of any audience. He is a fine pianist, an excellent violinist, a unique impersonator and an unequalled story teller. A combination of these gifts is used to excellent advantage on his Redpath programs as well as on the records which he makes for the Victrola.

The success of his stories is in himself; he laughs and the contagion of his jollity is irresistible. Nevertheless Mr. Bingham's subject matter is of the highest type, and its inspirational value is of the best.

CORN

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. (adv.)

Pompey's Pillar?

The famous column stands in the neighborhood of Alexandria, on an eminence about 1,800 feet south of the walls. It is supposed to have been built to commemorate the conquest of Alexandria by Diocletian in 296 A. D.

IT'S GRANDEST
THING IN WORLD

Gained Ten Pounds And Is Full of Life and Energy Since Taking Tanlac

"It was only three weeks ago that I began taking Tanlac and already I have gained ten pounds and am now doing my housework for the first time in over a year," said Mrs. Florence Krause, 419 South Shelby St., Louisville, Ky.

"I had been a sufferer from stomach trouble for several years and last year I got so bad off I had to have an operation and it left me in a worse condition than ever. My nerves were so badly unstrung that any sudden noise would make me scream out and become almost hysterical. My stomach was upset, my appetite was the poorest it had ever been and I could not retain the little I did eat. I suffered terribly from nausea and had smothering spells so bad they would have to loosen my clothes and I would just have to gasp to keep breathing. My sleep was always restless and I had awful spells of neuralgia in my head. I was too weak to do any of my housework, felt tired and fagged out all the time and lost nearly all interest in life.

"Tanlac is the grandest medicine on earth, for I have taken only three bottles and already I am feeling better and stronger than I have in many years. I can hardly eat enough to satisfy my appetite, nothing ever hurts me and I am no longer bothered with those smothering spells. I have not had a sign of neuralgia since I began taking Tanlac and my nerves are just as steady and strong as ever in my life. My sleep is sound and refreshing and life is now worth living. Tanlac has given me health, strength and happiness, and I am glad to tell others in the hopes that they, too, may be benefited by this wonderful medicine." (adv)

KNOX RESOLUTION DEAD

The Knox resolution to repeal the declaration of war is dead, and the Borah resolution for a conference of the chief naval powers to reduce armaments is apparently on its death-bed. For the Borah resolution there has been substituted a resolution by the House approving of a plan President Harding is supposed to have, calling a general international conference for reduction on land as well as on sea. Such a plan as is pointed out by people who know the military situation in Europe can get nowhere as France alone, which will not disarm under any circumstances, could block it. Without reduction of armament the United States, of course, must continue to spend 93 cents of every dollar it takes in on wars past, present and future.

True Humor.

In the end we find that the test of true humor is the reaction it makes to the depression, sorrow and sadness of life and its power to give brightness and courage in the midst of disaster. The joke is worth while that makes life more possible and sorrow a little less impossible—that brings a smile amid tears, as sunshine in the heart of clouds is seen cutting its way through the darkness. Yet, despite England's training in trouble, what is there finer than the delicate humor of Oliver Wendell Holmes?—Exchange.

The Center of Population.

The center of population is the center of gravity of the population of a country, each individual being assumed to have the same weight. In the United States the center of population has followed the parallel of 39 degrees latitude and has moved in a westward direction during the last 125 years.

EVERYONE LOVES THE HORSE

There is no one to raise his voice on behalf of the gambling that comes with horses racing any more than there was any one found to hold a brief for the corner saloon and the evils for which it was held responsible.

But there is more to the racing of horses than the odds; more to the sport of knigs than the mutuels. There is, to begin with, the horse. There is the accumulated legend and tradition which associate the horse with noble impulses and a splendid power. Is there not a biblical warrant for the battle from afar? Do we not immortalize the rider in those equestrian statues which are the glory of art, ancient and modern? And is not Brucephalus quite as essential to the story as Alexander?

To love the horse is as natural as to make a companion of the dog. To-day, at the Dangerfield farm near Lexington, the most renowned member of the equine family, the retired thoroughbred, Man o' War, holds his levee and receives, with becoming gravity and dignity, with perhaps just a trace of bored condescension, the visits of an admiring world. From all over the country they come to register their names in his guest-book, to gain for themselves something of the glory of association, to secure on the tablets of their memory a little corner which may justify them in boasting, in the years to come, very different years it may be, that they patted the famous stallion and were assured by honest John Buckley, who valets him, that, considering the adulation from which fame has condemned him to suffer, he's a pretty good horse.

GEN. LEE'S COUSIN DEAD

Col. Robert Lee Spencer, 80 years old, first cousin to General Robert E. Lee and his class mate at West Point at the outbreak of the Civil War and member of the staff of Gen. U. S. Grant, died at the Pine Knot, Kentucky.

He was present when Lee surrendered at Appomattox. He was a son of the originator of the Spenciran writing system, and had lived in retirement approaching obscurity since the end of the war.
